MESSAGE DU PRESIDENT

As we look back upon the year now ending, there is more truth than ever to the saying that change is life. We are caught up in the age of Future Shock, in which change itself is a challenge that faces us all. This challenge is one that will affect not only the class of 1973, but all of us here at Le Lycee.

We cannot "learn" change, for we do not know what changes lie in store. What we can do --and what we are doing at Le Lycee-- is to train each of our students to cope with change; to provide each student with the rational capability to deal with the world on his own terms.

The past year has been one of great accomplishment, both for those who are now graduating, and for those who are still striving for academic excellence. The purpose of a yearbook is to record the events and personalities of now. When you leaf through this book in the years ahead, you will recall fondly the many adventures and experiences which you shared here at Le Lycee.

The end of another school year is another milestone. For all of us, it is the end of one phase of experience while another phase lies ahead, full of challenges and uncertainty. We urge you all to meet those challenges head-on; to apply yourselves to the tasks ahead and to develop fully your own capabilities so that you may take your proper place in society. We are confident, that with diligent application, there are no limits to your future success.

This is also an appropriate time to note our special gratitude to those friends of Le Lycee who have supported the school over the past year. We also thank our many friends who have helped make this yearbook possible through their financial assistance and advertising. These friends have demonstrated their endorsement of Le Lycee. Let us, in turn, support their efforts as well.

Discours d'usage à l'occasion

de la distribution solennelle des prix

1972

Monsieur et Madame Kabbaz, Présidents du Lycée Français de Los Angeles, m'ont invité à prononcer ce jour le discours d'usage. J'ai feuilleté mon Littré et j'ai découvert qu'un discours se dit "de tout ce qui est prononcé avec une certaine méthode et une certaine longueur". Pauvres enfants qui craignez déjà de subir le dernier pensum de l'année; mais au risque d'être désavoué par les admirateurs de Littré, je n'ai pas trouvé de plan et j'essaierai d'être bref. Habituellement dans nos lycées et collèges français, le discours d'usage est imposé au plus jeune professeur qui essaie ce jour-là de briller devant les autorités universitaires et administratives. Je ne suis plus jeune, je n'ai pas de proviseur à contenter et mes rapports d'amitié avec Monsieur le Consul Général, qui préside cette cérémonie, ne m'amènent pas à le considérer comme un Préfet.

Alors, si vous le voulez bien, nous allons parler de l'usage.

L'usage, c'est d'abord la pratique que l'ancienneté ou la fréquence rend normal dans une société donnée. Le discours d'usage, c'est le discours rendu traditionnel par les coutumes ou les habitudes; il fait partie du cérémonial et de l'étiquette requis dans ces distributions de prix. Et ceci indique qu'on appartient à une société qui a des règles; par extension, cela signifie qu'on a des usages, qu'on sait observer des règles de bienséance, qu'on pratique la civilité et les convenances.

Aussi, ne devons-nous pas nous étonner si les deux auteurs qui ont le mieux parlé des distributions de prix, sont Confucius et Alain qui ont basé leur morale sur la pratique des rites et l'observation de la politesse.

Et pour rester dans la tradition, comme tout discours de distribution de prix doit comporter une leçon, je vous dirai simplement, chers enfants, soyez polis pour vivre en société, pour vivre à la ville (disaient les Grecs) et d'autant plus que la ville est plus grande.

Mais l'usage, c'est également la mise en oeuvre de l'ensemble des éléments du langage par la parole; l'usage, c'est l'expression verbale de la pensée.

Le titre de l'une des meilleurs grammaires qui aient jamais été écrites, celle de l'auteur belge Grévisse est simplement "le bon usage".

Alors,permettez moi dans cette enceinte et à l'occasion de la distribution des prix du Lycée Français de Los Angeles, de plaider pour le bon et bel usage de la langue française. Je le ferai pour rendre hommage aux fondateurs qui ont donné ce nom à leur établissement et en raison du fait que le Gouvernement Français dont je suis ici le délégué culturel, accorde son patronage à cette institution, lui fournit des professeurs et distribue des bourses aux enfants de compatriotes méritants. Mais nous sommes en situation de bilinguisme dans cette dynamique Californie qui sait si bien assimiler ses résidents; et notre langue est une modeste violette qui risque toujours d'être étouffée par sa rivale omniprésente et fanée par les fumées du smog, avant de pouvoir s'épanouir. Chers parents, qui confiez vos enfants à ce Lycée pour que vos enfants parlent et pensent français, avez-vous déjà réfléchi que beaucoup d'entre eux n'entendent le français que durant les cours; à la maison, on parle anglais; dans la rue, on parle anglais; au cinéma, on parle anglais; en récréation, on parle anglais.

En plein accord avec la Directrice de l'Etablissement, nous essaierons de faire qu'un plus grand nombre d'enseignants français titulaires soient recrutés pour que le maximum de cours soient donnés en français. Nous ne recourrons pas à ces extrémités que j'ai connues en Afrique où des Pères Missionnaires donnaient des coups de baguette à leurs pensionnaires qui s'exprimaient dans leur langue maternelle en récréation. Mais nous avons confiance dans le caractère dynamique de notre langue pour que, dans le cadre des mesures pédagogiques que nous allons adopter dès la rentrée prochaine, tous les enfants de cet établissement soient de vrais bilingues, en mesure de penser et de s'exprimer dans les deux langues.

Ce faisant, nous estimons que nous aurons rendu service aux parents français expatriés temporaires, dont les enfants auront pu continuer à suivre le cursus français, aux enfants de nos compatriotes installés ici et qui veulent garder des liens avec la mère patrie, aux enfants que nos amis étrangers ou américains nous ont confiés, et enfin à la Grande République amie qui nous accueille ici et qui permet par ces liens tissés dès le plus jeune âge de développer et d'accroitre l'entente cordiale entre nos deux peuples et nos deux civilisations.

A L'INTENTION

DE MES ELEVES

HOMMAGE A ANNE CHOPINET

A dix-huit ans Anne Chopinet a été reçue première à Polytechnique et elle a battu tous les garçons. Anne n'est pas un génie, mais elle est douée; elle est douée en maths, en physique, en Français et même en en dessin et en Russe. "Anne est anormalement normale." C'est ainsi qu'on avait qualifié nos trois astronautes: Neil Armstrong, Michael Collins, et Edwin Aldrin, Jr. lorsqu'ils firent leurs premiers pas sur la lune.

Anne a subi trente heures de cours par semaine, dont seize de maths, ce qui laisse peu de temps ou pas du tout pour les loisirs: "Cela demande un effort physique considérable et une docilité intellectuelle remarquable," constate son professeur du Lycée Condorcet, Mr. Adler.

Anne est la première fille à rentrer à Polytechnique. Sa réussite est extraordinaire puisque Polytechnique est une école militaire; d'ailleurs Anne devra faire son service militaire. Elle pourra devenir ingénieur du Génie Maritime et construire des cuirassés, des sous-marins, ingénieur de l'Armement et calculer des canons, élaborer des explosifs, si elle le désire!

En attendant, Anne a provoqué l'admiration de toute la France et malgré son succès elle est restée une grande jeune fille toute simple. C'est pourquoi nous avons choisi de lui rendre hommage en lui dédiant ce recueil des souvenirs de l'année.

Souhaitons que son courage, sa simplicité inspirent nos élèves et qu'il y ait de plus en plus des "Anne Chopinet!"

Women's World

'A Woman's Finest Accessory Is A Man'

By JACKIE DASHIELL
Herald-Examiner Women's Editor

When Lilly Dache came to Los Angeles in 1952, she apologized to a woman reporter that the personal wardrobe she brought along only contained "18 small hats." This week the noted designer, whose career was launched world-wide with her chapeau creations, arrived in Los Angeles hatless.

"Women's hats are in fashion today, but I personally will never make them again," she says with a determined firming of her chin. "Women's fashion is so very simple today and there is such imaginative hair styles, a woman only needs a little stocking cap for the wind."

Small, pixie-like in her blonde wig and elaborately embroidered black sweater and pants set, all of which are self-designed, she looks at her husband of 42 years with a mischievious grin as she announces, "After all, a woman's finest accessory is a man."

He is Jean Despres, French-born (as is his wife) who came to the United States in 1922 as a perfumer to assist for a few weeks at Coty's and stayed for 50-years with that firm, retiring only recently. The couple met on a blind date in New York, where she arrived in 1924 with a few dollars, high hopes and a sense of "big adventure."

From the beginning the couple loved to travel and honeymooned for 21 days about the United States on 21 different trains. They have only recently completed a 90-day around the world trip to celebrate his retirement and are en route to Mexico, where he has a separate business established.

"We live six-months in Paris and six-months in New York and travel to Los Angeles at least once a year," Miss Dache' explains. New York time is divided between a 200 acre farm in Bedford, and a penthouse in the city.

One of the first women's fashion designers to go into menswear, Miss Dache's trip to the west coast is to select materials for the line of men's neckties which she designs for Castle Neckwear, headquartered on Maple St., Los Angeles.

Her menswear line is added to designs of wigs, fragrances, cosmetics, interior decorating and architecture, but, mention the name, Lilly Dache, and the average woman still thinks of hats.

She still remembers her first commercial hat. "It was a cloche like what they are wearing now, with cherries tied with a bow. Periodically I brought it back. Simple fashions always repeat themselves. Marian Davies bought one, I remember."

Her love of cherries goes back to her childhood.

"Mother told me I was ugly. I had protuding teeth. So I used to drape things around my head ... scarfs with cherries pinned to them ... and dangle cherries from my ears. Do girls still do things like that?"

In the new "Eleanor and Franklin" book a paragraph refers to the six blue velvet hat designs Miss Dache sent Mrs. Roosevelt from which to make a selection. She kept them all.

"Mrs. Roosevelt was a very charming person ... a magnificent person," recalls the designer. "But, it wasn't only velvet hats. She had a friend, June Hamilton Rhodes, who represented the velvet industry and who talked her into wearing blue velvet nightgowns. They were known as the Eleanor Blue Velvet Nightgown," she

'Today's Woman Needs Only A Little Stocking Cap For The Wind' ...Lilly Dache

Miss Dache introduced in 1942 (upper left) a Russian cossack type hat in black rabbit's wool with rows of red, green, and blue tassels and, in 1945 (upper right) a bonnet of turquoise net with brim of lavender taffeta and heaped with plastic flowers.

Lilly Dache gained fame and fortune in the fashion world through the fluff and feathers of her women's hat designs. Since branching into cosmetics, jewelry, women's wear and, latest of all, menswear designs, she has declared, "I will not design hats anymore."

The reason for her decision, even in a year that brings hats back to the fashion horizon stronger than ever, is that she believes she has reached a point when her fashion should be for everyone.

"My hats were custom-made. They were one-of-a-kind. They had to be expensive. Too expensive."

One of the loveliest Lilly Dache designs, introduced in 1943, was a small white fox body tilted over the eye and trimmed in black bird wings (left) and another, introduced in the spring of 1945, was the tilted turban of curled blue-white feathers and pink and white roses (above).

Herald-Examiner Photos By Bruce Howell

"Women are dressing so simply now," notes designer, Lilly Dache . However, she wears three gold bracelets and multiple rings to accessorize her lavishly embroidered and appliqued black sweater and pants set. Below, her husband of 42 years, Jean Despres, who just retired after 50 years as an executive with Coty, chats with Eleanor Lambert of New York, a cocktail guest.

In Los Angeles to select a new assortment of materials for her tie-designs which are manufactured here, the provocative Lilly Dache takes time out to share her points of view on fashion, marriage, men, birthdays and raising daughters.

Lilly Dache: "I'll Never Make Another Hat' says, again flashing the pixie grin.

Cole Porter . . . "I knew him, but not as well as I should have known him, if you understand me" . . . considered Lilly Dache his lucky charm. He either used a line about her in one song of each of his musical comedies, or he placed a big hat box with her name on it on stage in one of the scenes.

Miss Dache notes, from a 1958 trip to Russia, that there were only two powders, light and dark, available to women; one rouge shade; two lipsticks; and teeth were filled with steel. "Things like apples cost a dollar a piece, so there were lots of kinds of breads and the women were very stocky," she recalls. "Girls on the street would come up and try to buy my shoes."

From the more recent world tour, the fashion picture seems to have changed. "In the cities, much is alike. The influence of America, brought by films and tourists, is apparent in every major city."

Miss Dache was first asked to do menswear as a costume (now in the Metropolitan Museum) effort, but is now seriously in the practical end of design. "I like double-knits; I like comfortable fabrics; of course, I like pure silk, but it is expensive. My hats were all custom-made, but we must do fashion today that everybody can have. A shirt doesn't have to be individual.

"The liberated male is the new bird of paradise in fashion. Men should experiment with collar styles and should concentrate less on keeping their hair and more on using cosmetically what they have or can grow to improve their facial contours or reduce their years."

She looks across the Century Plaza room at her husband. "I made Jean grow a moustache. See, it took 20 years off his face. But he will wear those light sports' jackets; even in New York he does. I suppose some girl told him how devastating he looks."

His grin is appreciative.

Miss Dache, who predicts a return of vests in silk brocades or lush velvets . . . "At the Coty Awards the women all looked simple but the men were in flowing velvet and looked as if they had permanent waves" . . . also prefers her husband in white shirt and white tie. His tie has the tiniest of initials hand-embroidered in the lower left corner.

Both Miss Dache and her husband share an Oct. 12 birthday but she . . . "Women in the middle years should abolish their birthdays; even if a girl of 15 brags about her age it will catch up with her some day" . . . doesn't celebrate her birthday. "I celebrate his!

"I feel 19 and when you feel 19 you are permitted a great many things."

Choosing to keep her maiden name, both socially and professionally, Miss Dache is one of the first business women to do so . . . "I will always be a Miss" . . . and her husband does not object. "Even when I call the office and speak to her secretary I find myself asking for Miss Dache. I think I was raised right."

The couple have one daughter, Suzanne Dache, 21, who is now holding her first job with Eleanor Lambert in New York. "She doesn't like the boyfriends I like," Miss Dache bemoans; "but I think she imitates me. She twists her father around her finger. I love young people and I pay heed to them. I copied my daughter's foundation makeup. Of course, it didn't look the same on me, but it was better than what I had been wearing."

To the age-worn question of how a woman can combine a successful marriage and a successful career, Miss Dache comments, "The more I had to do the better I like it and the more I could do. I put first things first. First is my husband. In New York we live in the top two floors of a 12-story building I built. I never take my business to those top two floors.

"For many years I had a French housekeeper who was Jean's nanny. We always spoke French at home and now she lives in Paris and, at 96, still doesn't know a word of English.

"You can get married . . . anyone can get married . . . but staying married is something different. We didn't fight and argue and say 'boom, boom' . . . we did boom, boom!"

PRETEND AT BEING BLIND, WHICH CALLS TRUTH NEAR

a poem by Ray Bradbury

The backyard of my mind is filled this summer morning
With a soft and humming tide
The gentle glide and simmer, the frail tremoring
Of wings invisible which pause upon the air,
Subside, then come again at merest whisper
To the lip of flower to the edge of wonder;
They do not tear asunder, their purpose simple
Is to waken me to wander without looking
Never thinking only feeling;
Thoughts can come long after breakfast...

Now' s the time to press the air apart
And stand submerged by pollen siftings
And the driftings of those oiled and soundless wings
Which scribble waves of ink and water
Flourished eye-wink fluttering and scurry
Paradox of poise and hurry,
Standing still while spun-wound-bursting to depart,
Swift migrations of the heart of universe
Which surfs the wind and pulses awe;
Thirsting bird or artful thought the same,
Sight, not staring, wins the game,

Touch but do not trap things with the eyes,

Glance off, encouraging surprise;

Doing and being...these the true twins of eternal seeing.

Thinking comes later.

For now, balance at the equator of morn's midnight

With wordless welcome, beckon in the days

But shout not, nor make motion,

Tremble not the sea or ocean of being

Where thoughts in rounded flight fast-fleeing

Stone-pebble-skip

Across the surface of calm mind;

Pretend at being blind which calls truth near...

Until the hummingbirds,

The hummingbirds,

The humming-

-birds

Ten billion gyroscopes,

Swoop in to touch,

Spin,

Whisper,

Balance,

Sweet migrations of gossip in each ear.

THE LANGUAGE OF TIME

We may have a tendency to feel that time is experienced pretty much the same by everyone. After all, an hour is an hour, isn't it?

Time . . .

Too slow for those who wait,

Too swift for those who fear,

Too long for those who grieve,

Too short for those who rejoice;

But for those who love,

time is not.

Lycee Starts Eighth Year

Le Lycee began its eighth year of operations last month, on a campus filled both with students and the sound of progress.

According to Lycee President Raymond Kabbaz, this year's student body is one of the largest ever, with more than 235 youngsters enrolled.

"We're exceptionally gratified," said M. Kabbaz, "to see this continued growth in the Lycee and the concept of the Lycee education. In seven short years, we have made many, many friends in Los Angeles, and have been responsible for the education of hundreds upon hundreds of children.

"We look forward to this new year with hopes of even greater academic achievement, as well as physical growth."

A major new construction project on the Overland campus is the building of the new science lab. If construction stays on schedule, the new laboratory should be completed by early December.

"The science lab is an achievement of which we can all be proud," explained M. Kabbaz. "This is a truly cooperative effort, and one that has been a strong priority for us at the school.

"The federal government has already committed to underwrite the cost of equipping the new lab with necessary scientific apparatus, on the condition that we provide the lab itself.

"Part of the cost of construction was contributed over the summer months by parents and Friends of the Lycee who donated generously to our building fund.

"We would like to thank the following friends of the school for their support of this most-needed project: Mr. and Mrs. M. Batterman, Dr. and Mrs. Jasper J. Blystone, Mrs. der la Poterie, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. De Oliensis, Mrs. E. A. Foster, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Freeman, Mrs. Helena Fulton, Mr. and Mrs. Greber, Dr. and Mrs. Olaf Helmer, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Hackel, Mrs. Mary K. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald A. Katz, Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Keatinge, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Martynienko, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Prieur, Mr. Stanley Sackin, Mrs. Marius Taix, Mr. Welch, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilk."

Nine New Teachers Named

Nine new teachers are making their appearance at Le Lycee this fall, six of them from France. The names of the new French teachers, their proficiency levels, and the U.S. academic equivalent follows:

Patrice Bouysse, Titulaire d'une maitrise de lettres classiques (Doctorate), will serve as an instructor of languages;

Patrick Fevrier, Licence des lettres (Masters degree), will also serve as language instructor;

Michel Mannoni, Doctorat 3e cycle (Doctorate), will teach physics, chemistry and mathematics. M. Mannoni has spent time in the U. S. previously, with graduate studies at USC;

Parent Meetings Scheduled

Le Lycee Francais de Los Angeles is pleased to announce a new series of informal get-togethers for all parents with the administration of the school.

According to Lycee Trustee Dr. Marvin Stern, the meetings will be held at the school once each trimester, and are open to all parents. The first meeting will be announced shortly.

For those parents with children who are French nationals, a trimester get-together has been planned to discuss specific problems concerning the future education of their children upon their return to France. Under the auspices of the Association of Parents of French Students, the meetings (held in French, of course) are open to all parents who have children registered with the French Consulate.

Parents will be contacted by the association.

In addition to scheduled meetings, Mr. and Mrs. Kabbaz are both available to meet with individual parents upon appointment.

The new science laboratory is nearing completion, as Mr. and Mrs. Kabbaz review architectural drawings. Barring any last minute delays, the new facility should be completed by early December.

Eight Graduate in June

Eight Lycee scholars graduated in June at ceremonies held at the Granada Theater, West Hollywood. The commencement address was delivered by Raymond Neuville, French Cultural Attache in Los Angeles, following an address by French Consul General Jean-Francois Roux.

Graduating seniors included Elizabeth Arlen, Michele Hormel, Charles Jany, Sylvie Lestrade, Homer Luke, Melanie McLaughlin, Valerie Rubsamen and Carla Sanguineti.

While all students planned to enter college this fall (with the exception of Miss Lestrade, who is now sailing around the world with her family), Misses Hormel and McLaughlin were admitted to the undergraduate level with "honors at entrance." Miss Hormel is attending Pepperdine University, Malibu, and Miss McLaughlin, USC.

Ten Students Advanced

Ten Lycee students have been admitted for partial studies at westside universities while completing their secondary education at Le Lycee. Eight have been selected for special classes at West Los Angeles University, and one at UCLA.

Attending West Los Angeles University are Linda Wilks, Kathy Fisher, Carole Bonnefil, Valerie Stern, Jane Lawson, Tarik Monisoglu, Rita Brown, Christine Carreon and Randy Berrie. Donelle Dadigan has been admitted for special classes at UCLA.

"Nothing could better illustrate the inherent value of the Lycee concept," explained Raymond Kabbaz, "than this strong endorsement of the quality of our students by major universities. The typical Lycee student is far ahead of his public school contemporary in intellectual awareness and the discipline required to master the continuing academic challenge.

"This is the first time our students have been allowed to enroll for university level classes while still attending the Lycee. We expect it to become the norm in years ahead."

Kenneth B. Mayer, director of admissions for Pacific University, discusses freshman openings with Lycee president Raymond Kabbaz

Here And There...

As a continuing service to parents, Le Lycee is once again offering French classes for parents of Lycee students, as well as friends of the Lycee. The program will begin in November, and there will be a nominal charge. An application blank is available through the registrar's office.

The Lycee library continues to expand. More than 1,000 new volumes have been added and catalogued over the past year. Major credit for the continued upgrading of the school library must go to the school's hard-working librarian, Mrs. Maxine Steinberg.

It's that time of year again: School has been in session for less than a month, and college recruiters are already knocking on the Lycee's door. A recent visitor to the campus was Kenneth B. Mayer, director of admissions for Pacific University, Forest Grove, Oregon. There will be many more . . . .

Honors, Honors

Members of the Lycee family—and the Lycee itself—have received a number of honors in recent months.

The school itself won a fully-endorsed re-accreditation by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges, in recognition of the academic and administrative progress demonstrated by the school over recent years.

Lycee Director and Founder Esther Kabbaz, was named as one of "Two Thousand Women of Achievement" in a special tribute devoted to the women of the world in London.

Randall Katz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald A. Katz, was named outstanding student in commencement ceremonies held in June, and was awarded a two week trip to Tahiti, through the cooperation of UTA French Airlines.

Assistant Principal Named

Mrs. Michele Gans has been named Assistant Principal of the Lycee, according to President Raymond Kabbaz.

Mrs. Gans holds a number of degrees from principal universities both in Europe and the United States, including a law degree from Paris University.

"We welcome Mrs. Gans to the Lycee," said M. Kabbaz, "and feel confident that her experience and charm will combine to provide the school with a most valued administrator in the years to come."

Other new teachers include the following:

1971-72: A Year of Accomplishment

The past year has seen steady growth at Le Lycee Francais de Los Angeles in both academic and non-academic areas.

Highlight of the year was the renewal of accreditation of Le Lycee by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges. Such accreditation is of vital importance to Le Lycee, and serves as an important endorsement of the quality of a Lycee education.

The 1971–72 school year was one of significant student accomplishments as well. The Lycee drama club presented Arthur Miller's play "The Crucible" at UCLA, and the Student Association Bazaar was an enormous success, raising additional funds to finance new titles for the school library.

The re-organization of the school library—and the hiring of a full time librarian—provided an ever-expanding resource for our students. New books are being received and catalogued weekly. Other new acquisitions included five IBM electric typewriters, generously donated to the school by the IBM Corporation.

The new student newspaper—a monthly journal called Le Candide—has won wide acceptance at the school, under the direction and editing of William Travis and his hard working staff. Travis also swept top district honors in this year's Boys' Oratorical Contest sponsored by Optimist International.

In other areas, the school displayed a tapestry by M. Pierre Sicard, and executed by Tapisserie D'Aubusson, in France. With the opening of the new Headmaster's Residence, a series of monthly teas and open houses encouraged a greater participation in Lycee activities on the part of many parents.

The school also welcomed the new French Consular Corps, including Consul General M. Jean-Francois Roux; Consul Melle Yvonne Petrement; Cultural Attache M. Raymond Neuville; and Commercial Attache M. Jean Bourgeois. Dr. Paule Neuville generously gave of her time in teaching science classes at Le Lycee.

Finally, Madame Kabbaz displayed her great pride in Le Lycee by taking millions of Southern Californians on a tour of the school in a special television report carried by KNBC—TV, Channel 4.

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

TO THE 1972 GRADUATING CLASS
LE LYCEE FRANCAIS DE LOS ANGELES

America can be intensely proud of the young men and women who complete their secondary education and begin their adult life. We have every reason to be encouraged as we look to you -- to your energies, your hopes and your ambitions. We have every right to be confident as we consider your high sense of purpose and refreshing desire to serve.

There is little doubt that today's seniors want to be involved. And today's America needs your full involvement. Whatever career, whatever interests, whatever course you pursue in your lives: you will find in our nation the unlimited opportunity to contribute to the progress and well-being of your fellow citizens. Our success in meeting the critical challenges we face as a nation depends on your positive response to this opportunity that is before you.

I believe that America's pride and confidence in you are soundly placed. I believe that you will look within yourselves to ask how best you can direct your special talents to help fill the urgent needs of those who, through no fault of their own, have not enjoyed a rightful share in the general prosperity of America.

I see a nation that is not divided by age groups, but one that is united in a common purpose: and it is a purpose in which you have a vital part.

My congratulations to you on the scholarship that has earned you this diploma, and my sincere good wishes as you go forth to do your best in your chosen field, helping to build better communities and a stronger America.

COMMUNIQUÉ

Aux termes d'une circulaire No. IV 69-45 du 29 Janvier 1969, parue au Bulletin Officiel du Ministère Français de l'Education Nationale du 6 Février 1969, Le Lycée Français de Los Angeles figure sur la liste des établissements français "dont les décisions prises par les conseils de classe ou d'orientation de certains établissements scolaires de l'étranger sont valables de droit pour l'admission dans les lycées et collèges français d'enseignement secondaire."

Aux termes d'un arrêté du 30 Novembre 1972, paru au Bulletin Officiel du Ministère Français de l'Education Nationale du 18 Janvier 1973, Le Lycée de Los Angeles figure sur "la liste des établissements situés hors du territoire français où les services d'enseignement effectués dans des sections dispensant un enseignement de même nature que celui exigé dans le territoire français permettent de postuler l'inscription sur la liste d'aptitude aux fonctions de professeur certifié."

Le Lycée Français de Los Angeles a été habilité à recevoir des boursiers français du Ministère de l'Education Nationale. Il reçoit également des professeurs détachés du Ministère de l'Education Nationale et des professeurs coopérants dont trois sur six cette année sont détachés du Ministère de l'Education Nationale.

Le Lycée Français de Los Angeles a été inspecté par M. l'Inspecteur Général Rouchette en May 1969, et par M. l'Inspecteur Général Louis Faucon, Président de l'Association Amicale des Inspecteurs Généraux de l'Instruction Publique et de l'Enseignement Technique en Mai 1972.

A la 25ème Session du Conseil Supérieur des Français de l'Etranger, le 17 Juin 1971, le Sénateur Jacques Habert, Sénateur de la Section Amérique-Europe-Asie, a cité le Lycée Français de Los Angeles parmi les 79 établissements secondaires de l'étranger auxquels le Gouvernement Français apporte son concours.

Dès 1966 des députés de la Commission des Affaires Culturelles Familiales et Sociales de l'Assemblée Nationale à la suite de la mission effectuée aux Etats Unis du 8 au 28 Mars 1966 constatent que le Lycée Français de Los Angeles "est très bien installé, et que 1 établissement suit dans toutes ses disciplines le programme d'un lycée français."

Le 16 Février 1968, Le Lycée Français a reçu une délégation de sénateurs français qui comprenait le Sénateur et Mme Armengaud, le Sénateur et Mme Motais de Narbonne, M. le Sénateur Leroux, accompagnés du Consul Général de France M. Gérard Pérès.

En 1970 le Président Louis Gros, Représentant des Français de l'Etranger et Président de la Commission des Affaires Culturelles du Sénat Français a rendu une visite officielle au Lycée avec la Commission Sénatoriale qui comprenait entre autres le Sénateur Jacques Habert, le Sénateur Jean Fleury et le Sénateur M. Chauty.

Le Lycée a été fondé en 1964. M. le Baron Louis de Cabrol, Consul Général de France, a présidé à la cérémonie officielle de l'ouverture du Lycée Français.

Le Lycée a reçu en 1966 la visite officielle de M. Edouard Morot-Sir, Conseiller Culturel de France aux Etats Unis, Représentant Permanent des Universités Françaises aux Etats Unis. C'est au cours de cette visite que M. Charles Boyer, dans le cadre de sa fondation, offre une collection de 2,000 volumes pour la bibliothèque du Lycée.

L'année scolaire 1967-1968 a été marquée par l'achat d'une belle propriété à Overland dans un quartier résidentiel. M. Morot-Sir a présidé à l'ouverture officielle du campus d'Overland; il est accompagné du Consul Général de France M. Gérard Pérès.

En 1970, M. Jean-Hervé Donnard, Conseiller Culturel de France aux Etats Unis, Représentant Permanent des Universités Françaises aux Etats Unis, ainsi que Mme Donnard ont rendu une visite officielle au Lycée accompagnés du Consul Général de France M. Didier Raguenet.

En Décembre 1972, le Lycée est honoré de la visite de Son Excellence l'Ambassadeur de France aux Etats Unis et Mme Jacques Kosciusko-Morizet, accompagnés du Consul Général de France et Mme Jean-François Roux, et de l'Attaché Culturel de France M. LES LUNETTES DE GRAND' MERE

Un froid matin de Janvier
Grand' maman dut s' éloigner
Pour une journée entière:
Me voyant seule au logis
De leur vieil étui je sortis
Les lunettes de ma grand' mère.

Après avoir, gravement,
Longuement, soigneusement
Bien essuyé chaque verre
Avec des airs recueillis,
Sur le bout de mon nez je mis
Les lunettes de ma grand' mère.

Je pris ensuite en ma main
Le gros paroissien romain
Pour y lire ma prière....
Et je le comprenais mieux
Depuis que j' avais sur les yeux
Les lunettes de ma grand' mère.

Puis je tricotais des bas
Pour les gens qui n' en ont pas,
D' une main bien légère,
Maudissant les durs hivers
En voyant la neige, à travers
Les lunettes de ma grand' mère.

Puis enfin, comme un oiseau,
Doucement, dans son berceau,
Je berçais mon petit frère,
Dont les grands yeux étonnés
S' amusaient de voir sur mon nez
Les lunettes de ma grand' mère.

Jadis, mon cœur frémissait
Quand Maman le caressait!
Adieu jalousie amère:
J' adorais mon Yvonnec.
Rien que l' admirer avec
Les lunettes de ma grand' mère.

Lorsque je dis à Maman
Pourquoi ce prompt changement?
Elle répondit: Ma chère
C' est qu' un des rayons ardents
De son grand cœur est resté dans
Les lunettes de ta grand' mère.

Moralité: Pour mieux voir
Mieux comprendre le devoir
Et les humaines misères
Sur nos yeux trop exigeants,
Mettons les verres indulgents
Des lunettes de nos grand' mères!

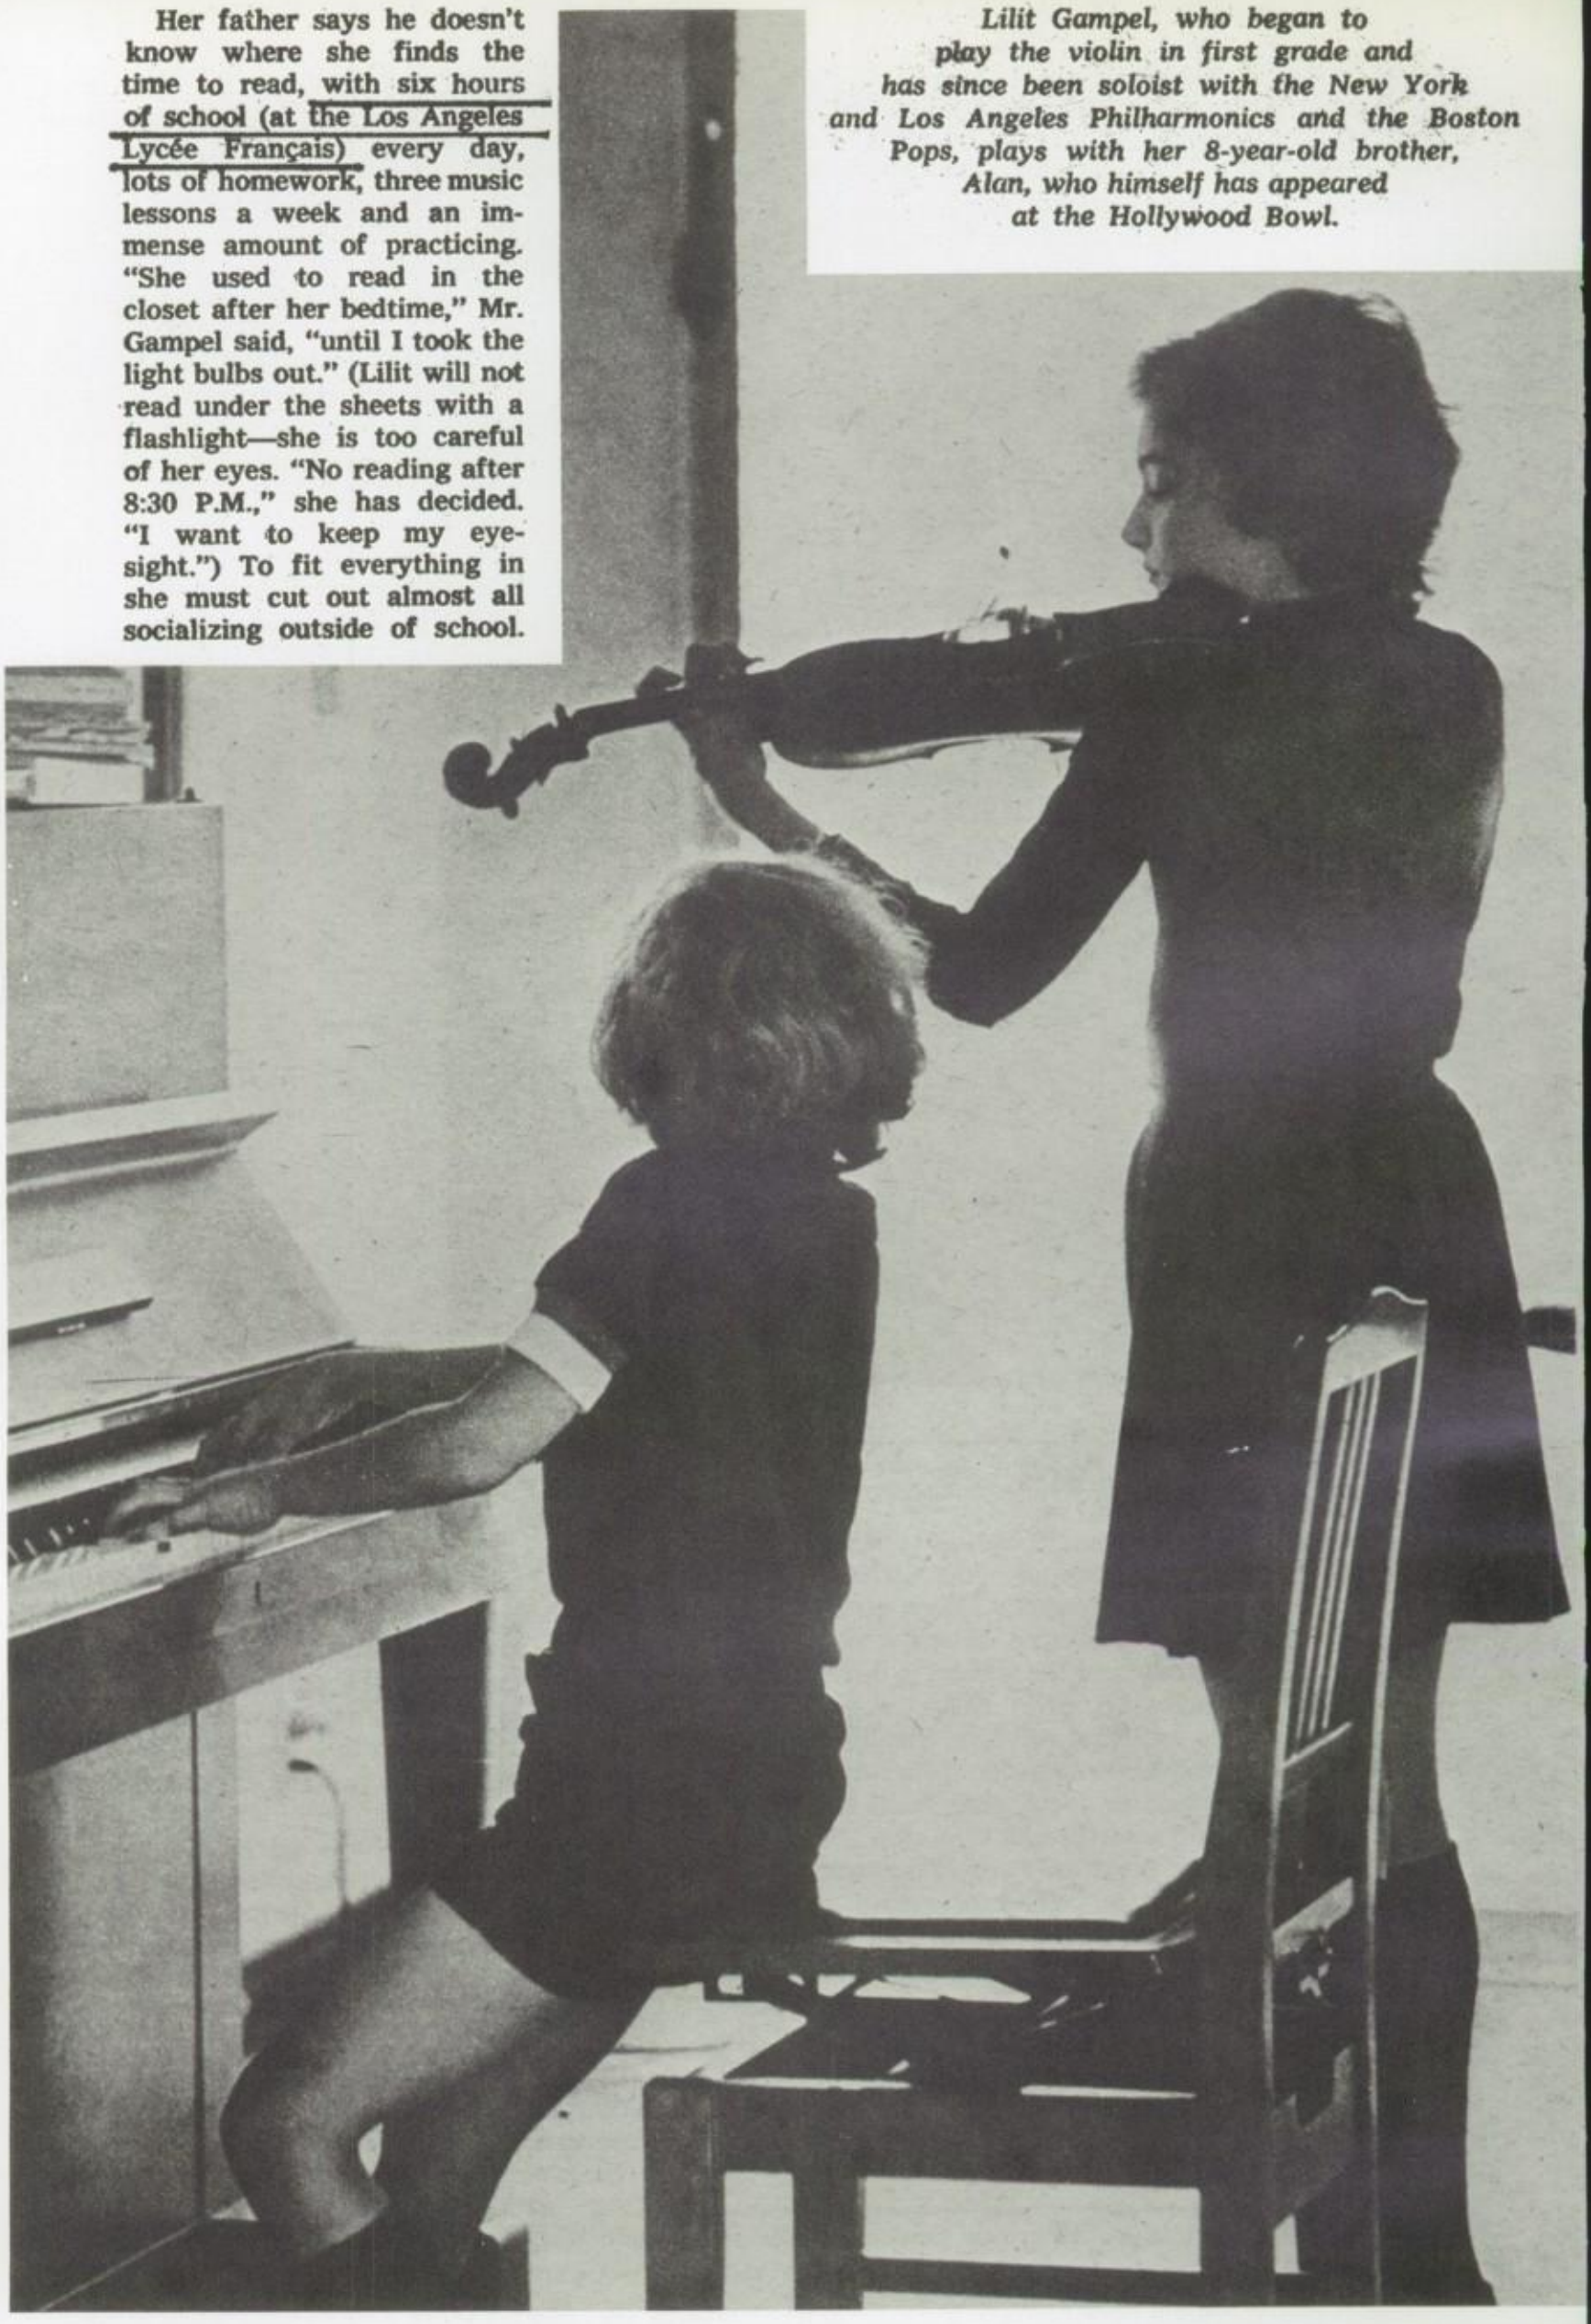
LILIT & ALAN GAMPEL NOS ELEVES A L'HONNEUR

Her father says he doesn't know where she finds the time to read, with six hours of school (at the Los Angeles Lycée Français) every day, lots of homework, three music lessons a week and an immense amount of practicing. "She used to read in the closet after her bedtime," Mr. Gampel said, "until I took the light bulbs out." (Lilit will not read under the sheets with a flashlight—she is too careful of her eyes. "No reading after 8:30 P.M.," she has decided. "I want to keep my eyesight.") To fit everything in she must cut out almost all socializing outside of school.



Lilit Gampel, who began to play the violin in first grade and has since been soloist with the New York and Los Angeles Philharmonics and the Boston Pops, plays with her 8-year-old brother, Alan, who himself has appeared at the Hollywood Bowl.

Citroën Maserati

"THE BEST ALL-AROUND AUTOMOBILE IN AMERICA TODAY" – MOTOR TREND MAGAZINE

Better for 1973
with improved power!

We believe the Citroen Maserati is the best Gran Turismo available. The ultimate in high-status, high-performance automobiles.

Motor Trend Magazine believes it, too. The Motor Trend panel of top automotive experts described the SM as "the best all-around automobile in America today".

We'd like you to see the reasons for their enthusiasm:

The SM's powerful Maserati engine (more dynamic for '73 with 190 horsepower).

Variable power steering with the exclusive stability augmentation system known as Speedfeel. Introduced last year, this important automotive First has contributed greatly to the growing popularity of the Citroen SM.

Hydropneumatic suspension, which uses air and oil in four separate chambers to take the place of springs and turn the road to velvet.

The SM's aerodynamic lines, windtunnel-sculpted by rushing air.

And the perfection of all the luxurious details, inside and out, that complete the portrait of the SM as a study in high-powered elegance.

See the many reasons why the Citroen Maserati is the finest Gran Turismo on the road — better than ever for '73.

LILIT GAMPEL: A wispy, delicate child who looks younger than her 13 years, Lilit is an astonishingly assured violinist who appeared as soloist last year with the New York Philharmonic and Seattle Symphony, was seen and heard two weeks ago on the Dick Cavett Show, and has just completed a recital tour of California, Washington and Utah. Home is a comfortable, bookish old Spanish house in Los Angeles. Father Leonard is a physicist, Mother Eva a biochemist; neither is a musician. Brother Alan, 9, much to Lilit's annoyance, is as dedicated to the drums as the piano ("He just bangs on anything").

The proud possessor of a 1704 Stradivarius lent her by a Beverly Hills collector of fine musical instruments, Lilit practices one hour at 6:30 a.m., one hour after school, one hour just before bedtime —and professes not to mind it: "Practicing just makes me want to do it more." She has no close friends at school, partly because the other kids prefer rock to her Romantics: "My brother is my friend." Lilit does not feel that she has missed a thing by concentrating almost exclusively on music. As she puts it, matter-of-factly: "You can't do everything."
